

The proposed broadcast flag specifically targets consumers and contradicts common law Fair use policies and the 1992 Home Audio Recording Act. This technology will prevent legitimate consumers who are authorized to make copies of copyrighted materials that they have purchased for personal use only, as in the case of music.